

RIBECOURT TAKEN BY FRENCH

BATTLE OF LASSIGNY RIDGE

LONDON, AUG. 16.

Sir Douglas Haig, reporting at noon on Wednesday, stated: Hostile artillery was active at night time on the battle front. No infantry action occurred. We repulsed local attacks in the Dieckebach sector on midday on Tuesday. Considerable hostile artillery activity occurred in this neighbour hood at night time, also north-west of Kemmel.

We captured a few prisoners in a successful raid in the neighbourhood of Aixey. Our patrols made progress in the Vieux Bucquoy sector. We established our line to the east of the village, and took a number of prisoners.

Our line was advanced slightly east of Meteren.

Sir Douglas Haig reporting late on Wednesday night stated: Local fighting had taken place in the neighbourhood of Parville. We made progress and took some prisoners.

Following its recent withdrawal from the Huisnes sector, the enemy evacuated his forward positions at Beaumont-Hamel, Serra, Puisieux-a-Mont, and Bucquoy. Our patrols are advancing in contact with the enemy, and have gained ground around these villages, taking prisoners.

Our continuous day and night bombing of the Somme bridges, railway lines, and junctions, since the beginning of the offensive, has held up the enemy's reinforcements, and also forced him to employ large formations of scouts in an effort to protect his vital communications, but our concentrations of machines effectively dealt with all the opposition. We dropped 21 tons of bombs during the day time, and 37 tons during the night time above objectives.

Anglo-Americans advanced and drove from a low height, destroyed six machines, and set fire to the hangars. We brought down machines, and drove down ten aircraft of control. Six British machines are missing.

A French communiqué on Wednesday afternoon stated: The Australians captured about 800 prisoners and 240 guns. It is probable these include some prisoners rounded up by the British cavalry, and do not include those taken by the German infantry unit, which was working north of the River Somme, during this advance. Once the infantry made an opening, cavalry, cars, and aeroplanes caused tremendous confusion behind the German lines. We know from those who were there that on the first day of the battle, the Germans, on the roads leading to Parville, behind the Somme lines were almost indestructible. Roads were full of troops and transport streaking towards the rear, while the British planes flew low overhead, pouring in machine-guns, and throwing the roads into even greater confusion. The battle naturally passed without a day's rest, and there were no localised local peace since. The battle is now being fought on the edges of the old Somme battlefield. At Lihons, the Australians are already in the old crater-field, and short of a point where the old French battle lines were. There are old French communication trenches and second line trenches in the No-Man's-land or that old battlefield is now only a short way ahead at Lihons.

RAIDS ON GERMANY.

HUNDRED IN JULY.

The Press Bureau announces that during July the Independent Air Force carried out 100 raids, of which 96 were made into Germany.

The raids were made on important military objectives. The deep raids of mid-month, of weather, constitutes the record both for number of raids and weight of bombs.

An Amsterdam report states that as the result of air fighting near Knocke, on the Belgian coast, some German aeroplanes were brought down afame. Bombs dropped on Ghent resulted in 30 Germans being killed, also some Allied prisoners of war and civilians.

ALLIED CAPTURES.

The newspapers point out that Sir Douglas Haig's communiqué on Tuesday night referred only to General Rawlinson's and General Duhig's captures. The total (28,000 prisoners and 600 guns) does not include General Hunter's 10,000 prisoners and 400 guns.

GERMAN CAPTURES.

A German wireless official message says: On Monday night we carried out successful raids on various points along a ten miles' frontage, the northern part of the Somme, and captured 1700 prisoners.

The situation is very serious. Our troops are suffering terrible days. All discussion of the primary causes of the grave check must be avoided. The real cause is the enemy's pressure on a weak part of the front. The response is live at home. Let us remember the situation in life is at stake. The sacred duty of the Fatherland is more necessary than ever."

CONSERVING FOOD.

GREAT BRITAIN'S HARVEST.

Mr. J. R. Clynes (Food Controller), in a speech in London, said the world's food shortage was bound to increase, and the avoidance of waste became more important. Every ounce of waste becomes more important.

On the morning of the 8th the Royal Air Force and Australian units bombed enemy camps in the vicinity of Amman Railway Station. Many effective hits were made, and ground targets were machine-gunned.

The Imperial Camel Corps, co-operating with the Arab and Mudawar railway division, killed 35 of the enemy and took 120 prisoners, also two guns.

PALESTINE.

SUCCESSFUL OPERATIONS.

An official message from Palestine says: On Monday night we carried out successful raids on various points along a ten miles' frontage, the northern part of the Somme, and captured 1700 prisoners.

GENERAL CABLE NEWS.

The following telegram sent by Sergeant Bohm, of the recruiting staff, from Warsaw, was received by the State Recruiting Committee in London: "The 10th August."

A Washington message says: President Wilson has appointed a provost marshal from among the commanding officers of the A.A.U. and a leading anti-conscriptionist, enlisted to-day and was accepted."

COUNTRY MARCHES.

MITTAGONG, Thursday. The southern march to freedom column arrived at Mittagong by train yesterday afternoon, and was welcomed by Major Alderman L. Springett, who in his remarks pointed out how important their mission was.

It was arranged that the march would start at 6 a.m. on Saturday, and would end at 6 p.m. on Sunday.

The march, which is the trip of the 10th August, will be made in the following order: The Mayor and the president of the Fallarol Shire Council welcomed the column.

THE AMERICANS.

A New York report states that General March (Chief of Staff) says the army of the United States in France now numbers 21 divisions.

Divisions are capturing the villages and taking 200 prisoners. This fresh thrust caused the Germans to behave threateningly from the direction of Prayat, but attacks developed.

The only attempt to dispute the Australian rights in the new territory took the form of a heavy counter-attack on Sunday evening, but the Germans were repulsed.

The Germans have been held, though Minister Botha's withdrawal from the command of the American army, with American supply lines, railways, bases, and embarkation ports.

GERMAN TREATMENT OF PRISONERS.

A message from Washington states that on the Vesle front two hunger-stricken British escaped prisoners arrived in the American lines after passing through a German barrack. They had been captured during the fighting on the Marne. They spent a week in German and night machine-guns, and were given no food to protest against Mexican fiscal legislation.

The Germans declared that British prisoners were beaten and starved, and that German soldiers were living on horse meat.

PRUSSIANS MUTINY.

A Zurich report says the Socialist newspaper "Vorwärts" states that there is widespread mutiny among the officers in the Prussian army on the front. The 43rd and 46th East Prussian regiments refused to obey an order to attack, and were mercilessly shot down, including the officers.

MEXICO OIL DECREE.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 14. Replying to British protests against the oil decree, which is alleged to confiscate British oil interests, the Mexican Foreign Government has right to protest against Mexican fiscal legislation.

The decree declared that British prisoners were beaten and starved, and that German soldiers were living on horse meat.
